Comment : Why can the jail not deliver books sent to inmates? Family members, like myself, try to invest in their loved ones encouraging them to challenge themselves in a positive manner. We order books from designated merchants, pay shipping costs, join the jail SIU website and the books never reach the incarcerated individuals. I have receipts that my order was delivered on March 7th. I've spoken with caseworkers, mail room attendants, the cashier. Etc. After spending countless hours trying to track the order down, I feel someone should be held accountable to either deliver orders or return them for a refund. This may seem small, but I believe it's important for inmates to feel positive connections. Please help...we choose to send books for a reason
